Cinematography Style

Director Jon Fauer, ASC visited with 110 cinematographers from 15 countries, who have worked in all sectors of the industry including feature films, television, documentaries, commercials and music videos, to get an inside look at what cinematographers do, why they do it, and how they get there. Rare and arresting insights from the crème de la crème of today's top motion picture photographers are beautifully portrayed in this 86-minute documentary detailing the influence of style, technique and technology on the art and craft of filmmaking.

Please join us for this special screening of Cinematography Style and see first-hand how everything, from life experiences to technology, influences and shapes an individual's visual style.
