

Register Today for Emerging Technologies

(TORONTO – Monday, February 8, 2008) There are only a few spots left for the third course in the WIFT-T Emerging Level Certificate Program course: Emerging Technologies. Register and gain an understanding of changing media and its effect on audiences and the industry as a whole.

Designed for working professionals looking to accelerate their careers, Emerging Technologies explores the best mix of traditional and convergent media and examines digital film/television production, including high definition. Taking place over three Saturdays, the course runs February 16, 23 & March 8, 2008.

The WIFT-T Emerging Level Certificate Program is in partnership with Humber School of Media Studies and Information Technology. It is recommended for working professionals with at least one year experience in the industry or related university or college training.

Graduates will also receive a complimentary registration to the Shibley Righton Breakfast Stories Series, providing participants with the opportunity to gain practical, first hand knowledge from guest speakers who serve as leaders in the media industry.

For more information on the program and how to apply, visit www.wift.com.

Presented in partnership with NBC Universal and with the support of the Ontario Media Development Corporation on behalf of the Ministry of Culture and the Ontario Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities.

Women in Film and Television-Toronto (WIFT-T) is a not-for-profit professional organization founded in 1984. WIFT-T supports women in screen-based media (film, television and digital media) to build, advance and sustain their careers nationally and internationally. WIFT-T does this through hands-on high quality programming, mentoring, networking, and industry events that recognize the talents and potential of women. Our mission is to enhance the skills of our members so they can become significant decision-makers at all levels of the industry.
